Young Global Impact (YGA) (together with our affiliates, “YGA”, “we”, “us” or “our”) is committed to providing you with full and transparent information about the use of cookies and similar technologies, such as pixels, web beacons and tags (together “cookies”), on our website (the “Site”) (including online services on our website, such as application forms).

We are committed to being transparent about how we and our partners collect and use data. This Cookie Policy explains:

- (ii) the types of cookies we use and why we use them;
- (iii) how long cookies remain on your device;

- (v) how you can manage or withdraw your cookie preferences.

Please read this Cookie Policy together with our Privacy Policy, which provides further information about how we process personal information and your rights in relation to your personal information.

1. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your browser or device (such as a computer, tablet or smartphone) when you visit a website. Cookies allow a website to recognise your device and store certain information about your visit, such as your preferences or technical settings.

When you return to our Website, cookies enable the Website to recognise your device and retrieve this information. This helps the Website to function correctly, operate securely and, where applicable, improve performance and usability.

Cookies may remain on your device for different periods of time. Some cookies, called “session cookies”, are temporary and are automatically deleted when you close your browser or when your session ends. Other cookies, called “persistent cookies”, are stored on your device until you delete them or your browser deletes them when the cookie expires.

We use first-party cookies on our Website:

- First-party cookies are set directly by our Website and are generally used to enable core functionality and manage preferences.

Some cookies may have the same name even if different technologies are used. This does not mean that data is shared between service providers. The cookies are set by our Website and are treated as first-party cookies.

2. How we use cookies and similar technologies

We use a limited number of cookies and similar technologies on our Website to ensure that it operates securely and efficiently, and to help us understand how the Website is used so that we can improve its performance.

Analytics and Performance Cookies

These cookies are typically used to understand how you and other visitors use our website in order to assess its performance, optimise your digital experience and make improvements.

We currently do not use analytics and performance cookies on our Website, and we do not use cookies for analysing Website traffic and usage patterns, understanding which pages are visited more frequently, identifying areas where the Website can be improved, and/or monitoring Website performance and stability. If this changes in the future, we will update this Cookie Policy and obtain your consent where required by law.

Functional Cookies

Functional cookies enable enhanced Website functionality and help us remember certain choices you make, such as your preferences or settings.

We currently do not use targeting or advertising cookies on our Website, and we do not use cookies for behavioural advertising, cross-site tracking or the delivery of personalised advertisements. ## 3. How to enable or disable cookies

You can manage your cookie preferences through our website and/or change your browser settings at any time, as described below:

For example, while you will still be able to view the public website, you will not be able to log in securely to check your transactions or make payments.
